The Massacre at Odessa.

At a mass meeting of citizens held in Bristol, Va., Monday night at the Opera House to protest against the massacre of the Jews in Russia a letter which had been received by one of the prominent Jewish merchants, of Bristol, from a brother in Odessa was read. It is dated Odessa, October 24, and is, in part, as follows:

"I saw them catch an old Jewish man with gray hair and long beard. They robbed him, cut his head from his shoulders, kicked his body into the street, and then took his head and placed it on a long pole while every one was shouting 'Hurray.' Right at that time a young man dressed in the uniform of a high college scholar ran up and was protesting against this barbarism, and four or five Russians jumped on him and knocked him down. One, who had a great big knife, stabbed him in the stomach and split him in two. There was a lot of macaroni lying on the street, which came from the grocery store, and while still alive they tore out his entrails and stuffed him full of this macaroni and left him there. They were just running from house to another, breaking windows. Oh, God! What I saw in that barn makes me shudder. I think I can hardly write you. We found in the barn eight children, the oldest of which was not over eight years old, hung on one long rope and left swinging there."

A Threat from Mrs. Chadwick.
Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick has expressed the desire to go on the witness stand again in connection with the bankruptcy proceedings against her, and Monday wrote a letter to Referee Remington, of the Federal Bankruptcy Court, at Cleveland, Ohio, requesting him to set a date for reopening her case.

Mrs. Chadwick declares that if an opportunity is again given her to go on the stand she will tell without reservation all the facts concerning her financial dealings. For various reasons, Mrs. Chadwick said, in an interview Monday, she had declined to give much desired information at her previous hearing in bankruptcy. Now, however, she said, nothing will be concealed and no one shielded.

"It has been repeatedly stated," said Mrs. Chadwick, "that I borrowed more than $3,000,000. Whether or not that is true will be shown when I again take the stand in the bankruptcy court."

Continuing: Mrs. Chadwick said: "If the Supreme Court at Washington decides against me and I am compelled to go to the penitentiary, I shall before leaving Cleveland give out some additional information that will doubtless prove of interest. There are a number of financiers who benefited very largely through their dealings with me. If I am not to be punished, it is no more than right that some of the men should suffer with me, for if there was any violation of the law they are surely as guilty as I am."

A Creeping Death.
Blood poison creeps up towards the heart, causing death. J. E. Stearns, Belle Plaine, Minn., writes that a friend, dreadfully afflicted with blood poisoning, took up like blood poisoning. Bucklen's Arnica Salve drew out the poison, healed the wound, and saved his life. Best in the world for burns and sores. 25c at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store.

"The next day," he says, "they were so sore and stiff I was afraid I would have to stay in bed, but I rubbed them well with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications all soreness had disappeared. I feel that this bottle of Pain Balm saved me several days' time, to say nothing of the suffering." This liniment is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.
